We Won't See Auschwitz (SelfMadeHero) Jérémie Dres

After their grandmother's death, Jérémie and his brother attempt to learn more about their family's Jewish-Polish roots. But Jérémie is less interested in how the Holocaust affected his family and more interested in understanding what it means to be Jewish and Polish in today's world. They decide not to do the Holocaust trail—they won't go to Auschwitz—but instead go to Zelechów, the village where their grandfather was born; Warsaw, their grandmother's hometown; and Kraków, the city that hosts Europe's largest festival of Jewish culture. In their quest for identity, they gradually put together the pieces of their family history, while at the same time discovering a country still affected by its past and a culture greater than themselves.

Praise for We Won't See Auschwitz:

“A beautifully illustrated document of two Jewish brothers who visit Poland seeking their cultural heritage.”
