Flash is a bestselling Web content creation tool from Macromedia that lets Web designers create and import vector graphics, then animate and integrate them with sound, special effects, and motion. Developers also use Flash to build advanced Web applications with scripting, forms, and server-side connectivity. "Flash X Savvy" is a unique, one-stop Flash resource, written by a team of web professionals, and based entirely on the latest version of the product. Designers will hone their artistic skills, while developers will navigate the ins and outs of ActionScript and other advanced techniques.
